

No-one should live in poverty in the UK.

It's time to

- We hold that it is wholly unacceptable that 12.8 million people, or 1 in 5 of the population, are living in poverty in the UK today.
- We believe that the shared objective of Government and political parties must be to protect the poorest in our society who are badly hit by the impact of the recession.
- We believe that an increase in levels of income will be essential to achieve a major reduction in poverty, together with affordable housing and fair access to public services, without discrimination.

The Get Fair campaign is calling on MPs and party leaders to commit to a Poverty Pledge:

“I undertake to use, or support the use, of all policy powers available to Parliament to meet poverty targets and include concrete measures in my party manifesto to achieve a lasting reduction in poverty in the UK.”
